ABOUT LAURA

Laura Doughty comes from a long line of story tellers and she loves to share the power in other people's journey. She grew up in Kentucky with an interest in real estate early on; since age 11, Laura worked for her father's real estate publishing company and continued on throughout her high school and college years. Having grown up in a home built in 1894, it helped nurture her appreciation for architecture and design.

Laura founded Monarch Real Estate Concierge™ in 2008 and as the CEO and Broker, she has managed over $6B in transactions and over 4000 agents. She feels fortunate to be able to say, "I love what I do! I am passionate about taking care of all of my clients needs, not just the real estate transaction. It's not only important to provide the knowledge and integral expertise in a real estate transaction, but equally important to understand the lifestyle and multi-home property needs of our clients." For Laura, the sale is not completed at escrow, there's still much more she can provide to continue to ensure her clients enjoy their homes for many years.

While running marathons are a hobby for Laura, they've taught her real life lessons on how determination, focus and discipline result in a winning solution for any undertaking. Laura resides in Malibu, CA and enjoys traveling for her clients and speaking engagements. When she has spare time, it's devoted to supporting pet adoptions and fund raising/educational events.
